

Crash Kills Mrs. F. Krusemark

ABOUT THIS

ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

DESERVE SUPPORT.—There are many villages in The Semmer Newspaperland. Public affairs are carried on by business men and workers who receive only a small pittance for their efforts. Each of these deserve commendation for their self-sacrificing efforts. True, in most instances, they received a few dollars for their work, but it is well to remember that if they were paid on an average union-scale basis the communities would be hard put to it to pay them. More persons should attend their village board meetings and let these public servants know that the community is interested in community affairs.

MIRACLE.—There was a sun eclipse last week, on Wednesday. To some persons it was a "miracle" wrought by Divine Providence. To others it was a mere routine of the program of the universe. The eclipse last week was only partial, and in this area cloudy skies hid the interesting phenomena. There are many persons in our country who poo-hoo the idea that scientists can measure the illimitable distances of the universe accurately. Yet last week's little eclipse has been scheduled to our knowledge more than 50 years. All eclipses for the next 50 to 100 years are scheduled. They will appear on time, as have all others, lacking a cataclysmic upset. And in that event we would no longer be interested in eclipses. Or anything else.

SUPERSTITION.—The first eclipse I remember was in the spring of 1900. It was in South Carolina. Many persons did not go to work. Fear was expressed as to what might happen. Some thought God was giving the eclipse as a sign. Others thought the sun and moon would collide and wreck the world, as a punishment for sins. I remember a group of perhaps two dozen persons worriedly scanned the heavens, and as darkness approached and the cock crowed, fowl sought roosts, they fell on their knees and fervently prayed for safety. In a little while the shadows passed, the sun shone again. It was a long time before many of them prayed again. They felt safe.

UNAVAILING.—Storms at sea are frequent occurrences. They come without prayer and go the same way, but often fear of the storm sends unpraying persons into prayer. I remember two occasions when there seemed little hope. Bar addicts poured from the bar, dancers left the dance floor, gamblers left the gaming tables. All prayed. The funny thing about it was that in the morning of the same day the captain announced that a hurricane would develop by midnight. As the storm approached all were ordered to stay inside. No one worried about the warning—kept on their joyous ways. But from 10 o'clock until 4 o'clock in the morning there was much praying. The danger seemed to be over. Then back to bars, gaming tables, and dancing. That was in the Indian ocean.

OFF NEW ENGLAND.—The same thing happened off the New England coast some years ago. It was a hilarious group before and after the storm. But at the height of the storm even the drunks were on their knees. Like the Indian ocean storm, the Atlantic storm was bad. But it started as all storms start. Ended the same way. If the ships had not been strong enough to withstand the buffeting from the wind and mountainous waves, they would have been lost, regardless of the merry-makers' prayers. For hours it was a 50-50 thing—to sink or stay up. Seems strange that people happily forget the good things for indulgences until danger appears, then ask Divine aid. I was told a long time ago that the righteous will have quicker access with petitions.

ALWAYS SO.—But it is always so. Often a little child will forget mama until a hurt comes. Then, "Mama! Mama!"

SALES DATES

Nov. 29—John Wille, deceased, 175th street, Tinley Park.

TINLEY PARK'S PROPOSED NEW VILLAGE BUILDING

Above is an architect's drawing of the proposed Tinley Park village hall. In the building there will be, on the ground floor, space for Tinley's increased fire department equipment, squad car, cell block, and clerk's office, toilet facilities, and the boiler room. Provision for enlarged fire equipment is necessary in view of the growing population, the large number of houses being built and to be built. The second floor will house the council chamber, mayor's office, committee room, attorney's room, judges chamber, plus toilet facilities. Building of the structure will depend upon the result of a bond-issue election authorized by the village board of trustees at last week's monthly meeting. Expressed opinions are said to assure passage of the bond issue, since the village is in dire need of housing for its increasing requirements. Decision to authorize the construction of the building was reached only after long consideration, officials stated, subject to the vote of the people, and subject, also, to availability of materials and a contractor in position to proceed with the work. It is expected that setting of the bond-issue election date will be announced soon.

Mothers of Girl Scouts to Attend Meeting Friday

Mothers of Mokena Girl Scouts have been urged by Mrs. Albert Cappel, Mokena grade school principal, to attend a meeting in the school auditorium this Friday evening, 8 o'clock, to hear officers of the newly registered Will County Council of Girl Scouts explain the method of registration and the work of the council and its relation to the local group.

Previously, Mrs. Cappel said, Girl Scout groups have registered with the organization of a county council in headquarters in Washington, but with Joliet, the troops of Girl Scouts and Brownies henceforth will be registered with the county council.

The need for all mothers being present was emphasized by Mrs. Cappel, since, she stated, explanations of the work and the organization by the visiting officials will have important bearing on values to the girls.

Girl Scouts and Brownies in Mokena now number 50, it was said.

Records Broken At State Normal

A final analysis of the Illinois State Normal university enrollment shows a number of records were broken at the state university for teachers this fall. Not only is the total registration figure of 2,052 resident students the largest in the history of the university, but the number of men nosed out the number of women by two. There are 1,027 male students at ISNU as compared with 1,025 females.

Both the out of state enrollment and the number of students from Cook county are record breakers. Four per cent, or 86 ISNU students, are from out of state this year. Eight per cent, or 190 students, are attending the university from Cook county. Will county has 44 students at ISNU.

Calvary Baptists In Meet Tonight

Calvary Baptist church, Lincoln Estates, will hold its third annual Thanksgiving rally in the church this Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The evening program will include musical selections by the orchestra of the Immanuel Baptist church of Chicago Heights, numbers on the vibraphone, piano-accompaniment, musical saw, and vocal selections. Pastor Lester Rasmussen of Immanuel church will speak. An offering will be received for the church building fund.

Following the service there will be an hour of fellowship and refreshments.

Mokena School Observes "Week"

All grades in Mokena grade school assembled in the auditorium last Friday afternoon for observance of National Education week.

Following the pledge to the flag at the opening of the program, each class in the school presented its individual program.

In sending out notices to parents of children attending school, the parents were reminded that bicycle riders are required to obey all traffic rules that apply to motorists and pedestrians.

WEDNESDAY SERVICE

Mokena Methodists have announced a Wednesday evening Thanksgiving service next week. Time: 8 o'clock.

KENNY POLIO COOK CLINIC

$354,000 Sought;
Aid to Centralia

A statewide campaign to raise $354,000 for the Illinois chapter of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny foundation will get under way Monday, November 24, with the quota for all counties outside of Cook set at $177,000, or half of the total figure. The campaign will run until December 31.

Funds raised in the Illinois campaign will be used to enlarge and maintain the clinic established recently in Centralia, to establish scholarships for six Illinois nurses to train in the Kenny method of polio treatment, and to set up another clinic in the Cook county area. Establishment of a second Kenny clinic in the northern part of the state will facilitate greatly the treatment of polio cases in the state as a whole. At the present time, patients in the Cook county area are flown to the Centralia clinic by a Kenny mercy plane.

The Centralia clinic, with a present capacity of 35 beds, is to be enlarged to take care of 65 patients, and the completion of these plans, plus the establishment of a new clinic in upstate Illinois, will more than double the present state facilities for Kenny treatment.

John Joseph Ryan has been appointed chairman of the 1947 fund drive in Cook county, according to Judge Thomas J. Q. Courtney, vice president of the Illinois chapter of the foundation, and the appointment of a downstate chairman will be announced soon.

Faulty Mechanism Results in Bump

Mrs. Edward Berens of New Lenox and her nine-year-old son, Jerry, narrowly escaped serious injury at 5 o'clock last Friday evening when steering mechanism trouble caused loss of control of the car.

Jerry received shock and a painful bump on the knee from the impact of the car against a clump of willow trees on the right side of the road on Washington street near Elmhurst cemetery, Joliet.

They were on their way to get Mr. Berens, who is employed at Weber's dairy. He was called. After repairs the car was driven home.

Mokena Book club this week announced new library hours, while announcing new available books. "The Moneyman," "Knock On Any Door," and "Battle for Chicago."

Effective immediately, the Book club will maintain open hours only on Wednesday evenings until further notice. The hours remain the same, 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

Ann Rutledge P. T. O. Bazaar Date Is Set

Ann Rutledge school P. T. O. has announced its annual fall bazaar to be held in the school Saturday, December 6, 7 p. m. A bake sale is to be conducted as a part of the bazaar, it was said.

Rhode Island's chief industries are weaving and manufacturing.

Barches-Gaurini

Miss Eleanor Barches, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Barches, Lincoln Estates, became the bride of Frank Gaurini at St. Casimir church, Chicago Heights, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, November 15. Father Katauskas, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, escorted by her father, went to the altar dressed in a white satin gown with tight-fitting bodice, leg-o-mutton sleeves, and hoop skirt falling gracefully into a long train. A long veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls studded with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a cross set with diamonds.

Bride's attendants were Mrs. Ann Leper, Mrs. Ann Schafer, Mrs. Blanche Derrin, and Mrs. Lewis Barches, as bridesmaids, attired in light orchid gowns and matching tiaras as head-dress. Miss Frances Galinsky was maid of honor, gowned identically as bridesmaids, but in darker shade, and carried yellow tea roses.

and Dick Lippert as groomsmen. Usher Lewis Barches served as best man, and Bruno Derrin, B. Schaefer, and Henry Leper.

A reception at the bride's home attended by 250 persons, followed the ceremony. The table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaurini left immediately after the reception for Florida.

Shaws Return

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Shaw of Mokena, returned last Friday from a 10,000 mile motor trip which took them to Seattle, Wash., and down through California. While in San Francisco, they attended the Pacific Chemical exposition, where Mr. Shaw had his own exhibit.

They returned by way of the southern route, taking in the Carlsbad caverns. They were thrilled by the Yosemite valley, Boulder dam, Grand canyon, and many other places visited. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw visited with two sisters of the latter at Burbank. Incidentally, they also celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary with this trip.

SUMMIT BOOSTERS

TO PLAY FRIDAY

Summit Hill Boosters will meet Friday night, November 21, at the school house. Hostesses will be Mrs. John Bettenhausen and Mrs. Jerome Daugherty.

A program of games has been announced, together with refreshments.

They Like 'Em Now

Englishmen who are bemoaning the rationing of potatoes might find some consolation in the fact that many of the greatest Englishmen of history never had a single spud beside their bully beef.

Rations carried by King Arthur's men certainly contained no such starchy vegetables. Nor did Robin Hood and Little John ever plot against the sheriff while munching a steaming spud in Sherwood Forest.

"The reason for all this," explains Mable Johnson, research editor of the World Book Encyclopedia, "is the fact that England never had a potato before the 1500's."

According to history, continued the research expert, potatoes were first found in the new world by early explorers who brought the plant back to Europe. Potatoes were eagerly accepted by European farmers because they grow underground and are out of the reach of most crop pests.

HEAD-ON COLLISION SENDS HUSBAND TO HOSPITAL; RECOVERY IS EXPECTED

Mokena School News

By Audrey Niethammer

Junior High

After a long wait for our science books we have started our regular classes. Mrs. Smith is our teacher. Our classes are held Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

We had our Halloween party with lots of fun playing games and guessing the costumed children from other rooms. After the games we had refreshments.

Our room put on a play entitled "A Good American" for the national education week assembly program. Much time last week was spent on practicing.

The whole school enjoyed a movie last week entitled "Elephants." We have now finished our six-week examinations and our report cards have been issued.

Primary Room

The primary room is quite proud of winning the P. T. A. attendance award in both September and October. We hope our parents will keep coming to all the P. T. A. meetings.

We enjoyed our Halloween party. Everyone came in costume and it was very hard to guess who some of the boys and girls were. We enjoyed showing our costumes to the other rooms, and we played games. Our room mothers, Mrs. Fossum and Mrs. Gilmore, helped serve refreshments.

Our room packed four Junior Red Cross boxes to send overseas. We enjoyed bringing little gifts to fill these boxes for needy children who are our own age.

We have been busy practicing a play, "Health Around the Clock," for our part in the national education week program.

3rd and 4th Grades

We have been working on our farm unit murals for the classroom. Many are finished, and look nice on our walls.

We have observed American education week with stories and talks. We have also prepared our play for the program Friday afternoon in observance of education week.

Our periods in the gymnasium have been enjoyed by all.

Many are receiving 100 per cent in spelling.

We are sorry to have James Cooper absent because of illness.

5th and 6th Grades

The soap-carving contest, which was held in our room during the last week of October, was won by Cecil Ambuehl.

We have complete nut cups for the Junior Red Cross this week.

Charlotte Gilmore was chosen as narrator as we viewed the pictures drawn by the fifth grade reading class.

Bruce Scarth has returned to school after being absent because of an appendix operation. We are glad that he recovered so rapidly.

The chief products of South Carolina are tobacco, cotton, rice and textiles.

Funeral Services Held In Joliet

Funeral services for Mrs. Angela G. Krusemark, wife of Fred Krusemark, of Chicago, who is a brother of Albert Krusemark, Frankfort, were held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the Sonntag Funeral home, Joliet.

Mrs. Krusemark was killed in an automobile accident near Warsaw, Ind., when she and her husband were returning from Arkon, Ohio, where Mr. Krusemark had attended a business conference.

The accident occurred last Saturday evening about 9 p. m., on the Lincoln highway, seven miles east of Warsaw.

Mrs. Krusemark's neck was broken and death was instantaneous. Mr. Krusemark was taken to a Warsaw hospital, where he was found to have sustained, among other injuries, concussion of the brain.

The accident, it was stated, resulted when Mr. Krusemark, seeking to pass a truck, and observing no oncoming car, moved out into the middle lane and ran head-on into an oncoming car which, apparently, had been running with no lights.

It is understood that the driver of the other car, whose identity could not be learned, believed he had his dim lights on, and, when he saw the lights of the Krusemark car, turned on his bright lights. Too late to avoid a crash, Mr. Krusemark tried to reach the shoulder of the road, but the other car, it was said, plowed into his car, almost shearing off the side of the automobile, a Cord sedan.

Reports from the hospital indicate that Mr. Krusemark has an excellent chance for recovery. It is also reported that occupants of the other car, while badly injured, will recover.

The Krusemark home is at 1400 Lake Shore drive, Chicago; he is attorney and vice-president of the Mid-states Equipment corporation, 2429 South Michigan avenue, Chicago.

Mrs. Krusemark, the former Angela G. Whitlark, was born in Peru, Ind., in 1889 and was married to Mr. Krusemark in 1918. She is survived, in addition to her husband, by two brothers, Fred Whitlark of Mokena and Henry Whitlark of High Point, N. C., and two sisters, Mrs. Harriet Covert of Alameda, Calif., and Mrs. Elizabeth Dano of Kansas City, Mo.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. J. Riemann, pastor, St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Mokena, Tuesday afternoon. Interment was in Pleasant Hill cemetery, Frankfort.

Relatives from distant points attending the funeral were Henry Whitlark of High Point, N. C., and Dr. Frederick Louis Whitlark, Memphis, Tenn.

A normal dog that is bitten by a rabid animal may develop rabies in as short a time as ten days, or it may show no symptoms until several months later.

LOCAL 4-H MEMBERS RANK HIGH IN COUNTY ACHIEVEMENT PROGRAM

Achievement night held for Will County 4-H Club Members at Cunningham School in Joliet Saturday night, November 8, attracted a record crowd of 4-H members, leaders, parents, and friends.

Ronald Hack of Peotone, member of the Peotone Pep Pushers 4-H club, was elected as one of the 12 Illinois delegates from agricultural clubs to attend the national club congress which will be held in Chicago at the time of the International exposition. At this congress, Ronald will have an opportunity to meet other 4-H club members from all over the nation. This is one of the most coveted awards given outstanding 4-H club members.

Bringing honors to Will county again were Norvin Koop and William Schoop, who won the state Rite-way dairy achievement contest and national poultry achievement contest, respectively. These members' records have been submitted for national honors.

Kenneth Heisner of Peotone and Ralph Werner of Manhattan each received college scholarships. Four $25 bonds were presented to Donna Christiansen, Manhattan, Franklin Unruh, Beecher, Norvin Koop, Peotone; and Floyd Lankenau, Peotone. Kenneth, Ralph, Franklin and Norvin were State winners and Donna and Floyd were county winners. In addition to college scholarships and bonds, state outstanding member certificates were presented to Rosemary Archibald, Muriel Bettenhausen, Elsie Birkett, Donna Christiansen, Eleanor Kopelman, Gladys Mae Krapf, Alice Paunovich, Jean Phillips, Helen Reddy, Jeanette Scarth, Clarabelle Sippel, Shirley Weichbrodt, Myra Noble and Lee Etta Rakoski, all of the Home economics 4-H clubs, and Jack Chestnut, Erwin Goodwin, Ronald Hack, Kenneth Heisner, Norvin Koop, Floyd Lankenau, Vernon Lankenau, Kathryn McKinley, Delphine Ostermeyer, William Schoop, Heinz Sewing and Maurice Soucie, and Herbert Woodcock of the agriculture 4-H clubs.

There were also 72 state project honor member certificates given to Home Economics members and 47 state project honor member certificates given to agricultural club members.

Maurice Soucie, William Schoop, and Vernon Lankenau were awarded ribbons and medals for winning a "A" team rating at the state poultry judging contest held at the University of Illinois September 6. A $10 check was presented to Delphine Ostermeyer and Leonard Brands, who were given a "B" rating at the state 4-H demonstration contest held at Springfield during the state fair.

More than 1,000 local, county, and state awards were presented to Will county 4-Hers who have done outstanding club work for this year. Never in the history of Will county 4-H work have there been so many outstanding members and awards received by them.

Saturday was really a red-letter day in the lives of 4-H Club members. Achievement night marked the end of their scrap drive. They collected scrap for the purpose of securing money to contribute to the state 4-H club camp fund. It was reported that more than 75,000 pounds of scrap was collected during the drive. Clubs participating in order of scrap collected are as follows: Wheatland, Peotone Pep Pushers, Jackson Live Wires, Mokena Jolly Troopers, Wilmington Clubs, Wesley Clubs, Wheatland Willing Workers, Green Garden Snip 'N Snack, Manhattan 4-H Boosters, West Peotone, New Lenox Cardinals, Homer 4-H Club, Lockport Needle Threaders, Prairie 4-H, Schmitt Pepsters, J. J. C. M. 4-Hers.

The committee in charge of Saturday night's program were Helen Reddy and Bill Schoop, cochairman, Doris Hinspeter, Dorothy Kohl, Alice Smith, Jack Chestnut, Herbert Woodcock, and Kenneth Heisner.

After the program Saturday night, recreation activities were directed by Dorothea Eisenbrandt and Harlow Nicholson.

SURPRISE FLIGHT . . . When Howard Hughes, multimillionaire sportsman and industrialist, took his gigantic plywood flying boat out on to the waters of Long Beach harbor, he was only supposed to be making a few taxi runs. But on the third run, surprising the thousands of cheering spectators, he put down the flaps and the world's largest airplane crept into the air and flew for about a mile at an altitude of 70 feet. At bottom left is shown the immense tubular interior of the flying boat. The beach balls are to give added buoyancy in case the hull springs a leak. Howard Hughes, who was the center of interest in the senate war contract investigations last summer, is shown bottom right looking over the array of instruments on the panel of the plane.

SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK—FISHERMAN'S PARADISE . . . When torrential rains and high tides flooded low-lying areas around New York, they provided, among other things, an opportunity for a photographer to snap a picture of a fellow catching fish on the sidewalks of New York. The angler is Johnny Palm and the fish came from the flooded Fulton fish market, complete with rigor mortis already set in.

BOOTS AND SADDLE . . . Riding across country in the interest of "world peace," Sen. Glen Taylor (Dem., Ida.) rises early in the Arizona desert to continue his Paul Revere jaunt in the direction of Washington. From the looks of the picture, the senator must have saddled his horse before putting on his boots—risky business in a land where cactus grows.

LONG TIME BETWEEN SHIPS . . . Stephen Decatur 8th, the great-great-nephew of Stephen Decatur, famed U. S. naval hero, scans with interest a portrait of his great, sea-going ancestor. Portrait was loaned by the U. S. naval academy for the opening of Stephen Decatur hall in Philadelphia, new home of the naval reserve officers training corps at the University of Pennsylvania. Stephen 8th is a student at the University of Virginia.

ATOMIC POTATOES . . . Takeo Furuno, Japanese agricultural expert, holds plant bearing eight abnormally large sweet potatoes grown in area affected by atomic bomb blast in Nagasaki.

ROYALTY'S FRIEND . . . Mrs. Cobina Wright, New York socialite, is shown as she left for England to attend the wedding of Princess Elizabeth. She knew the bridegroom for 12 years.

GERMAN BISHOP . . . Bishop Friedrich Otto Dibelius, ranking Protestant minister of Berlin, paid a courtesy call on President Truman when he arrived in the U. S. to visit theological seminaries.

SPELUNKER . . . Mrs. Norma Lee Fisher, shown with son Freddy, 2, is Pittsburgh's only woman spelunker. A spelunker, by the way, is a member of the national speleological society, a group of cave hunters and explorers.

ANOTHER DECORATION . . . Gen. "Hap" Arnold, retired chief of army air forces, received a new decoration, this one from the Chinese government for achievement in military aviation.

BIT OF OLD CHINA . . . Authentic wedding dress, with an original headdress from Peking embroidered with seed pearls, makes Virginia Lee look like an emperor's bride.

FAR FROM THE MADDING CROWD . . . In the back yard of his Uvalde, Tex., home, John Nance Garner, former vice president of the U. S., now sits placidly in the sun and shucks pecans.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

GHOST ON BROADWAY

By ROBERT McBLAIR

IN THINKING of it afterward, Nettie Brainard could never get rid of the feeling that the light actually did change. In her empty tea room, the telephone on the cashier's desk rang. Although it was nearly noon, all of Broadway near Union Square seemed to dim to a queer, eerie twilight.

"Is this Miss Nettie Brainard?" a man's voice inquired.

"Yes," Nettie said into the instrument.

"Are you the daughter of Benjamin Brainard, deceased, and Nettie Sharp?"

"Yes. Yes, I am."

"Is your mother there?"

"She's busy in the kitchen just now. She'll be busy for half an hour. Who is this, please?"

"This is Thomas Sharp. Your Uncle Tom."

Nettie gasped. "Uncle Tom! But—but you are dead!"

The man's laugh had a hollow sound. "Not quite," he said.

"But five years ago, up home in Maine, we got a registered package," Nettie insisted, her voice shaking slightly. "It held four British bonds, and his—your passport stamped in Chinese and Russian, and a letter from Harbin, signed by Jerry Argus, saying that you had—"

The man laughed again. "Now, Nettie, don't be so upset by this! Anything may happen in the Far East. Besides, I left home twenty-five years ago. Before you were born."

"Well," said Nettie swallowing.

"Now don't say anything to your mother. I want to speak to you alone. I'll be right over."

He hung up. The light seemed to flood back into the deserted tea room. "Heavens above!" Nettie said aloud. "Uncle Tom! Alive! Alive, after all! What ever shall I say to him? Why does he want to talk to me alone? Why, it's like having a visit from—from a ghost!"

Across the street, her mortal enemies, the two quick lunch places, with their neon signs and their bargains in coffee and doughnuts, now became friends for once. They assured her that she was not in some timeless world of the spirit. Instead, she was in the bustling world of today, where a girl of twenty-two, who loves a young doctor way back in her home town, is glad to stand by her ailing mother in New York, and try to make a tea room pay in a section where there is no room for tea rooms.

"Uncle Tom!" Nettie said again. All she could remember of him was that he was a black sheep, or something worse. Her own father, Benjamin Brainard, never would permit his name to be spoken. This was because, over twenty-five years ago, Tom Sharp nearly had broken off Benjamin Brainard's engagement to Nettie's mother.

Tom Sharp had brought home some ruffian named Jerry Argus, and had introduced him to his sister, Nettie, at a time when her fiancé, Benjamin Brainard, was out of town on business. Nettie Sharp, then a girl of seventeen, had found Jerry Argus, the irresponsible wastrel, more enchanting than her businesslike and absent fiancé. Her parents ended that romance, but not before Jerry Argus and Nettie Sharp pledged eternal devotion in a secret meeting arranged by the black sheep Tom Sharp. It was a heartbreaking farewell.

Jerry Argus and Tom Sharp left together to hunt gold in Alaska, and after that adventured in the Far East. Young Nettie Sharp married Benjamin Brainard after all, and had one child, Nettie, before Benjamin Brainard died.

He told me about the operation your mother needs, which requires money. He told me more, Nettie. Something about himself. But that was confidential."

Nettie's heart stopped beating. "What did he tell you?" she cried.

"Never mind. But, look, Nettie. This cash came from smuggling arms in a good cause. Let it do some good!"

He laid a brown envelope in Nettie's palm. His hand, she noticed, was weathered, and had on its back a large strawberry birthmark.

"But, Uncle Tom!" she protested. "Now, now!" He got up. "Of course you wouldn't take ten thousand dollars from just anybody."

He laid a brown envelope in Nettie's palm. His hand, she noticed, had on its back a large strawberry birthmark.

Tom Sharp became an occasional, rambling letter from some unknown far Eastern place. Then, from Harbin, his passport and his legacy had come to his sister.

Now Tom Sharp was alive again and hurrying to see his sister's daughter.

Just then the front door opened. In stepped a bouncy, stocky, gray-haired man.

"Well, Nettie," he said heartily, "come sit by your Uncle Tom. Yes, you've got your mother's bright brown eyes."

He led her to one of the yellow tables.

"Yes, yes, my dear. No one likes to be visited by a ghost!" He roared with laughter. "It was poor Jerry Argus who played that joke on me. Left me with no passport and no money. The crazy fool!" He glanced toward the kitchen. "But I mustn't waste time like this. I found you by phoning the doctor in the old home town. The same name, but the son of the one I used to know. That's how time flies! . . .

Freezing weather isn't with us long before we realize that frozen stock tanks mean frozen profits. Icy, hard-to-get-at water quickly discourages animals from drinking the gallons of water they need to make more meat and milk.

The best way to end winter watering problems (and save yourself the work of chopping out the tank) is to plug-in an Electric Stock Tank Water Warmer. See your favorite dealer today and learn in a minute how an easily installed, economically operated Stock Tank Water Warmer will save you time and work . . . how it will more than pay for itself by helping to keep production and profits up when the temperature goes down!

AUTOMATIC DRINKING CUP—for all livestock, for year 'round use. Most easily installed before ground freezes. Contains heating unit, thermostat, cup and treadle. Very low operating cost.

IMMERSION TYPE TANK HEATER—for efficient use in barn or on range. Easily installed, thermostatically controlled, attention-free.

FLOATING DE-ICER—keeps a drinking hole open in tank in severest weather. Plug-in and place in tank. Thermostat, rugged construction.

Metropolitan Papers

Folks here were burned up over an article on Our Town I reprinted from a city paper. Made us sound like a bunch of "hicks" who whittled sticks and wore chin whiskers. (Last person I saw with chin whiskers was passing through on his way east.)

So I ran an editorial on how we spoke of city "slickers"—as overdressed wisecracks, only interested in making money, and spending it in night clubs.

Fact is, if we got to know each other we'd probably find we're not much different, underneath. City folks work hard; like to come home at night to their families; and relax with a moderate glass of beer, like we do.

From where I sit, it doesn't matter if you live in an apartment house or on a farm—work in an office or a cornfield—the American tradition of quiet home life, temperate habits, and neighborliness is common to all of us.

A VOICE FROM THE COUNTRY

Agricultural Revolution Dooms Old-Fashioned General Farm

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

Released by WNU Features.

Lately there has arisen in the mind of the writer doubts concerning two patterns of American life in which all of us have taken great pride in the past. These are unwelcome doubts but observation and study of the patterns in relation to the highly integrated industrialized world in which we live make them unavoidable. They are:

1. That the old-fashioned pioneer pattern of self-sufficient general farm is doomed.
2. That our present complicated, complex economic civilization cannot afford countless small enterprises save under very exceptional circumstances.

Both doubts are certain to arouse protest and even abuse, but both deserve the consideration of every thoughtful citizen.

The general farm, producing a little of everything, is an American pattern growing out of life upon isolated frontiers and no longer fits into a highly complex national economy. A few acres of corn or oats or wheat or hay cannot support a corn picker, a combine or a hay baler. Therefore the general farmer is at once at a great disadvantage, in competing with the corn farmer, the wheat farmer or the specialist grass farmer or the fruit farmer, all of whom are doing efficient jobs along specialist lines with the high degree of mechanization which any specialist enterprise can support.

Because the general farm cannot support a high degree of mechanization, the general farmer must work long hours, do things in an old-fashioned, slow and inefficient way.

zation, the general farmer must work long hours, do things in an old-fashioned, slow and inefficient way. His gross income is almost certain to be only a fraction of that of the specialist in dairying, grass farming, corn and hogs, fruit, potatoes or any other undertaking where a man is doing one or two things efficiently and well, instead of 10 or 15 things inefficiently, slowly and painfully.

I know of one specialist farm of 160 acres, raising apples, raspberries and hybrid seed corn which last year grossed $33,000. It is highly mechanized. Alfalfa is grown not to feed cattle but to mulch orchards and raspberries. The labor schedule is balanced the year round with no peaks and no slack periods. All attention is focused upon the three specialties and high production yields per acre rather than gambling upon high prices to survive is the basis of all operations. The income is high and the hours short because the farmer is operating efficiently.

The same acreage, operating as a general farm with a few chickens, a few cows, a few hogs, a few acres of wheat, oats, corn or hay, could have produced a maximum gross income, even in these times of high prices, of only about $6,000 or $7,000, with a net of not more than $3,000.

The farmer would be at the mercy of a custom bailer, corn picker, combine or haybaler, and would be forced to do things the hard, old-fashioned way and frequently suffer losses because the machinery was not available when his crops were ready. Bad weather or sudden decline in prices can ruin him or reduce him to subsistence level.

I suspect that in another generation the old-fashioned general farm will have become a curiosity except in poor agricultural areas where a few farms cling to the old ways. Anyone with an observant eye driving through agricultural country can see for himself the waning of the old pattern.

The well painted barns and houses, the new automobiles, the landscaped grounds around the farm house, the good fences—all of these one sees on dairy farms, fruit farms or potato farms. The farms that appear to be falling apart are almost always practicing agriculture in the old pioneer pattern. A good many of them are closing down each year or shifting over to specialization in order to improve income and living standards or even to survive.

It is all part of the vast agricultural revolution now in progress and it is the result of pressures from our highly integrated, mechanized industrialized civilization. The farm is no longer a frontier outpost in the defense against Indian attack when it was necessary to produce nearly everything that was consumed.

In most productive areas of the U. S. today, a farmer is an integral part of our social, mechanical, economic structure using electricity, gasoline, machinery, prepared feeds and other things which bind him into the whole structure so that he must integrate himself and his farm into the structure in order to survive.

The farmer of the future will not be a hunter-trapper-farmer, but a businessman, a scientist and a specialist. All of us will benefit by the change in terms of prices lowered through efficiency, in terms of health and in terms of taxes which no longer will be needed to subsidize farms living by a pattern which has become obsolete and which, in the past, has cost us dearly in many ways.

The passing of the general farm does not mean the passing of the family-sized farm. It is not a question of the amount of land but of how it is used and what the farm plan produces 5 to 10 times as much income with much less labor than the same acreage operated under the old system of "egg money" for the wife. Sentimentally, the passing is sad but I'm afraid it is inevitable.

"The farmer of the future will not be a hunter-trapper-farmer, but a businessman, a scientist and a specialist."

Black Flags Spur Army Safety Plan

FORT LEWIS, WASH.—Designed to keep army personnel "accident conscious," a new safety program has been launched by Fort Lewis officials.

Separate unit headquarters are issued white flags, to be flown from the roofs of headquarters buildings. In case of an accident resulting in hospitalization or death of unit personnel, the white flag is taken down and replaced with a black flag.

Never Too Old

ALBANY, N. Y. — You can teach an old dog new tricks, insists State Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, chairman of a legislative group investigating problems of the aged. As proof, he offers evidence that one old-timer "over 65" listed himself as an "apprentice" on a questionnaire.

Lord's Acre Nets $30,000 for Needy

BYRON, N. Y. — Residents of this farming community harvested a $30,000 crop on Lord's Acre, with all proceeds destined to go for domestic and foreign relief.

An auction sale, offering merchandise collected through co-operative community effort as well as the output from fields in the adjacent territory, attracted 7,000 buyers to Lord's Acre, a pleasant plot of land just inside the village limits. The auction climaxed a project commenced a year ago when residents of the village decided to do something to relieve worldwide suffering and to promote human understanding.

Three charitable institutions, National Catholic Welfare association, Protestant Restoration fund and United Jewish appeal, will share in the proceeds. Nine needy families in foreign countries will be aided.

LAST year, on our way west, we traveled as far as Chicago with George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears. The discussion came up as to whether or not there were spots enough for two football leagues, with eight teams in each circuit, just as baseball has today.

Halas didn't think so. "We have the only league," he said, "with New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburgh, Boston, Detroit and Los Angeles. These are the proven places. There is room enough for two big leagues in baseball," Halas continued, "but not football."

We suggested these spots — New York, two clubs; Chicago, two clubs, and one each for Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Washington, Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo and Baltimore.

"That only adds up to 14 clubs," Halas said. "We still need two more, and I don't like three you've thrown in — Buffalo, Brooklyn and Baltimore. Football is different than baseball. Football always has been a great baseball town. Brooklyn's football team cost Dan Topping around $300,000 and its new owners more than $250,000."

These figures are startling, one has to admit. Still Collins in Boston is out more than $500,000 and Detroit is at least that much in the red. And these are two National league cities.

There must be something wrong in the running and handling of pro football. Looking back 20 odd years, there have been more than 20 teams in the National league. Only four have ever made money. They are New York, Chicago, Washington and Green Bay. Philadelphia has been breaking even, and so has Pittsburgh. The rest have gone bankrupt or, like Detroit and Boston, are more than half-a-million out.

So far, Brooklyn, Boston and Detroit have been the major dabblers in red—well more than a million and a half. Miami blew up with a $300,000 detonation. Outside of a few teams, both leagues have suffered heavily on the financial side.

Overpaid Players

Many of them have been paying football players two and three times what they were worth. Players more than 28 years of age have been puffing around. Others have reported 20 to 40 pounds overweight. We agree with Red Blak—when you've passed 28, go out and get another job.

We'll also add—when you weigh more than 230 pounds—take up some fat man's game. At least 40 per cent of the pro football players today are in no physical condition to play out a game that demands so much on the physical side.

Just what will happen later is a guess beyond our reach. Pro football, so far, has cost various promoters close to 10 million dollars. A few have made money, but nothing like this amount.

I don't believe the losing promoters will take this beating much longer. And this includes both leagues. As far as I can dig up the figures, pro football, as great a game as it is, is still deep in the red.

Los Angeles has proved to be the best town for pro football, with Cleveland in second place. The N. Y. Giants, through the fine football that the Mara brothers and Steve Owen have provided for so many years, are well on the safe side. Washington has been a sellout on a 34,000 basis, due to Sammy Baugh. When Baugh leaves, George Marshall will have more headaches than a ton of aspirin can cure. The sound spots in pro football today are Cleveland, Los Angeles, New York, part of Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and San Francisco.

Chicago can't possibly take care of three teams. The Rockets already have discovered this sad news. Brooklyn, a fine baseball city, possibly the best, has known only third and fourth rate football teams for years. Brooklyn never has had a chance.

Few Opportunities

I still believe Buffalo and Baltimore can be strong centers, given high-grade teams. Neither will support a loser, long. There has been talk of Atlanta, Dallas, Akron and a few other cities, including New Orleans, that might work out. They might—if you care to gamble with a $300,000 loss. Most of these are strictly college towns.

There was, some years ago, a general belief that pro football would wreck college football, just as pro baseball smothered college baseball. I never believed this would happen. The college game is stronger today than it ever has been before. Pro football isn't. Look over college attendance figures—86,000 at Michigan—around 80,000 in the California, Pennsylvania and Ohio State stands—60,000 in Los Angeles—from 40,000 to 60,000 all over the college map. College football is still outdrawing pro football, game for game, by at least two to one.

SCRIPTURE: 1 John 1-3; John 21:15-22. DEVOTIONAL READING: 1 Corinthians 13.

The Way of Love

Lesson for November 23, 1947

SUNDAY'S lesson is based on the writings of John, 1 John 1-3, and John 21:15-22. The devotional reading is First Corinthians 13.

Travelling on a plane at night a little while ago, I talked at length with a group of business men. The conversation turned at last to the Bible. I asked the group for their favorite passages in the Bible. They named several passages, but the majority said they loved most the writings of John.

I think their answer emphasizes this truth. John tells us about God and his love. That is the message of this lesson.

The Happy Way of Life

LOVE is the happy way of life. It is the only happy way of life. Children are happy to the degree that they are loved. Find me a home where children are truly loved, and I will have no difficulty in identifying that as a happy home.

Little children yearn for love, and they respond in love. That is one reason why they like dogs. Dogs love little children, unless they are the wrong sort of dogs. And little children love dogs.

If a dog can bring happiness to a little child by loving to the limit of its brute nature, how much more can parents, made in the image of God, bring happiness to little children by loving them.

Love Begets Love

JOHN declares, "This commandment have we from him, that he who loveth God love his brother also," 1 John 4:21.

We cannot hate people if we see them through eyes of love. The Bible somewhere speaks of the eyes of the heart, and it is of such eyes that I am now thinking.

A friend of mine complained that some strangers had bought the house next door to his. They had a strange name, they talked strangely, they looked strange. He was tempted to sell his beautiful home and move to another community. He frowned when I smiled at him. I asked him if he would do what I proposed as a solution to his difficulty. He hesitated. I suggested that he cut an armful of dahlias from his garden and take them to the strange neighbors. He did. He discovered that the strange neighbor was an expert horticulturist. Today they are great friends. They love one another.

Follow After Love

HERE you will need to read 1 John 2:7-11. We need not pass resolutions about better relations within nations and between nations unless we are willing to follow after love in the everyday relationships of life.

Just across the fence, just across the hedge, just across the desk, just across the hall, just across the way, narrow or wide it may be, is a human being who yearns for love. It is generally safe to assume that the people you see every day are lonely people. You may not understand why, but they are lonely.

What can you do to help them in their loneliness? That is where the water begins to hit the wheel in applying this lesson to everyday life.

In the pioneer days of our country, people were more neighborly, because they were aware of great danger—danger from Indians, danger from wild beasts, danger from the wilderness about them. This sense of danger drew them together. Today, with our walled apartments, we have lost some sense of interdependence. That is why we are so lonely. Follow the better self within you. Penetrate these barriers. Follow after love. And you will be happier as you make your neighbor happy.

The Way of Love

THE way of love is the way of Christ. "A new commandment I give unto you," said Jesus, "That ye love one another as I have loved you."

Not until we reach the point that we can look at life through the eyes of love—the eyes of the heart—can we know the joy which comes when we follow the way of love. It may sound very simple. That is the reason why it is so vital. It is the one way up and out for our frightened world. The way of love is the way God wants us to go today and tomorrow.
